Our Vision: "Moving forward, the Occoquan District will continue to be a vibrant, livable and welcoming community with a resilient economy, top quality schools, and ample transit...with a constant emphasis on improving our quality of life while preserving our heritage."

OCCOQUAN DISTRICT

The beautiful Occoquan District is one of seven magisterial districts in Prince William County, Virginia. The District lies between the Occoquan River on the north and Prince William Parkway/Opitz Boulevard on the south. It stretches east to I-95 and west to the Manassas area. The Occoquan District is an exciting and diverse community.

The District is a blend of residential communities with the suburban Old Bridge Corridor in the east and a more semi-rural Davis Ford Corridor in the west. The scenic Historic Town of Occoquan is a favorite for local and regional visitors, boasting many unique shops and restaurants as well as the biannual Occoquan Arts and Crafts show. For sports fans, the District is the current home of the Minor League Potomac Nationals baseball team at Pfitzner Stadium, a BMX track, two golf courses, two libraries and several parks. The District is also home to the Potomac Mills Outlet Mall and many other businesses and nonprofit organizations which draw people from around the region. In addition, the McCoart Government Complex is located in the center of the District.

The schools in the District are among some of the best in the country. Our seven elementary schools, Lake Ridge Middle School, and Woodbridge Senior High School routinely receive national awards and are often named "Schools of Excellence". The quality education students earn here in the District has contributed to Prince William County being named one of the "100 Best Communities for Young People".

There is much to do in the Occoquan District, making our district an exciting place to live, work, play, visit, shop, dine, and learn.
